ADVISORY BOARD MEETING WITH ARCHBISHOP HURLEY:

The Advisory Board and representatives from the various committees met with Bishop Hurley last Wednesday to go over the building plans for the CCD Center as well as to inform him of what is going on and what our thinking is. Dick Shanders, Board Chairman, did an excellent job of chairing the meeting and each representative made very fine presentations. Archbishop Hurley was very pleased with our progress especially in the areas of reaching out to people, family ministry and the proposed religious education program. He thought that basically our building plans were good. The board will be meeting with him again early in June in Anchorage to present a further report on two items: 1 - Information on a loan program for the balance of funds needed; and 2 - an outline of various stages of building and costs for these stages. We are hoping that on that date he will grant his approval and we can get started.

Collection Envelopes: Parishioners whose names were on the parish list as of April 25, 1979 will be receiving collection envelopes through the mail beginning in July. Up-dating will be done monthly for new parishioners.

St. Jude Meeting:

St. Jude Guild overflowed with toys, patterns, ideas and approving children at their meeting Thursday at the home of Pat Wierzbicki. Homemade toys was the project of the day and another silent auction productively added to the treasury. Marie Middleton shared with the group the religious thought and information for the day.

More definite plans for the Fall Bazaar were made and chairmen appointed for the various booths. The welcoming and visitation committee composed of Jo Howe, Barbara Schmit, Doretha Smith, Eileen Johnson and Marie Middleton will be finalizing plans to begin parish visitation soon.

A committee to plan the parish picnic in late June was appointed composed of Elaine Williams, Pat Wierzbicki, Jane Holler and May Carter.

Next meeting will be held June 21 at the home of Jo Howe, off Lucas Road. Each regular member is urged to bring another person with her. Mothers with small children are especially encourage and urged not to refrain from attending because of them. Children are expected and enjoy the meeting too.
