RELIGIOUS EDUCATION - The relationship of growth in faith to human development. "Because the life of faith is related to human development, it passes through stages or levels; furthermore, different people possess aspects of faith to different degrees. This is true, for example, of the comprehensiveness and intensity with which they accept God's word, of their ability to explain it, and of their ability to apply it to their own lives. It is the role of the catechist to help at each stage of human development and lead the person to full participation with Jesus." (From "National Catechetical Directory")

ALASKA ALCOHOL FACT:

MAT-SU There are an estimated 3,500 problem drinkers in the Mat-Su area; each of these drinkers affects at least three other people, which accounts for 10,500 people --- almost 1/4 of the entire borough.

WHY so many Alaska-Holics? Is it the climate? Dark Winters? The Frontier "He Man" image? Perhaps the answer is simply that Alaskans drink more alcohol, or more Alaskans drink.
