LET'S GET TO THE "MEAT" OF THE MATTER

Bones are the pieces of structural matter that support other parts. There are all kinds of bones: long ones, short ones, fat ones, skinny ones, strong ones, weak ones. They make the body (or church) what it is, and determine to a large extent what it is capable of accomplishing. Let's think about what kind of bones we are or want to be...

Wishbones - Those who have great ideas they wish would come true. But wish is all they do, and it never happens.

Jawbones - Those who talk about all that might be done. But talk is all they ever do, and of course it never happens.

Neckbones - Those who are careful never to stick their's out. Cautious is all they ever are, and nothing ever happens.

Tailbones - Those who think they can accomplish something by sitting around, but sit is all they do, and of course it never happens.

Backbones - Those who get behind the wheel and really get results. Work is all they ever do, and of course, they make it happen.
